

Abundant Life

Tuesday, December 2, 2014
1st Week of Advent

“That abundance may flourish in his days.” (Psalm 72:7)

As we begin the wonderful waiting time of Advent, the readings call for each of us to ponder on the meaning of what is enough. We will not find abundant life in things, because it comes from our intimate relationship with God. It begins with God and if rooted there, then abundance will be found in family and friendships, caring for those in need, those who are lonely, and those who are grieving.

What if we gave all? What will that gift do? I am sure it would feed a multitude. This Advent let us not turn away from those calling us to share our “ENOUGH”. Let us slow down and recognize all that we have been given and realize we have enough. May we be like the stump budding, blossoming and calling new life in us.
